SERVICES GUIDE

Iman Javadi

BIPOC entertainment producer and CEO of Good Movie Inc., Iman Javadi, was born in Iran and moved to Canada in his twenties. He went to Vancouver Film School, where he specialized in producing. Shortly after school, he became a member of the Director Guild of Canada and started working as a Production Assistant. Working his way up the ladder, Iman worked in roles such as ALM, LM, 3rd AD, 2nd AD and most recently as a First AD. Since starting his career in 2012, Iman has worked on more than forty feature projects ranging from low-budget and Indie films to blockbuster projects with Disney, Netflix, and HBO. In 2020 Iman became a member of The Canadian Media Producers Association.

Iman believes in the importance of the organization and management of a film project. He believes that these are the two fundamental requirements of a successful project. He enjoys the hustle and problem-solving of working on Indie projects and the precision required for creating big-budget films. Iman is a hard-working and ambitious producer passionate about cinema and helping clients develop their projects.
